azulthermal

healthy skin

Azulthermal S.L.U is a young company based in Valencia (Spain) related to a group of thermal spas' undertakings which develops and markets both thermal and natural cosmetics products. The manufacturing process is carried out in accredited laboratories under the parameters of quality, organic production and use of mineral-medicinal water.

Azulthermal is a consolidated project that has advocated since its creation for the following intrinsic values:

- The use of natural products and the revaluation of thermal water as a distinctive, unique and key differentiator element.
- Identify the product with its own geographical area of development, its nature and its social wealth.

Within our corporate values and CSR area, we cooperate with groups of people with disabilities, thus, this project and their engagement and commitment on it, guarantees them professional development and sustainability, as they actively participate in the finishing and distribution of some products.

Research and development are core aspects as we want to keep launching to the market innovative cosmetic products that generate added value because of its uniqueness, as it happens with the endogenous products.
